

Committee on Slavic Studies at Polish Academy of Sciences and Institute of Specialised and Intercultural Communication at University of Warsaw invite you to the international scientific conference “Slavic Terminology: Today and Tomorrow”
25-26 May 2017, Warsaw, Poland

The 2017 conference is the third gathering (first in Poland) where participants can share their terminology science experiences in relation to Slavic languages. The objective is to review current work and discuss major research problems in terminology.

This time our focus is on the following themes:

- descriptions of terminological data bases and data update methods;
 - terminological policies;
 - terminological planning; and
 - ethical problems in terminology research.

Conference overview:

- Presentation proposals (15 minutes) should be submitted by 28 February 2017 to: termin.iksi@uw.edu.pl. A proposal should include the name and surname of the participant, his/her affiliation and e-mail address as well as the title of the presentation and an abstract of approx. 700 characters, including spaces.
- Declarations of passive participation in the conference (without a presentation) should be submitted to: termin.iksi@uw.edu.pl by 31 March 2017.
- All Slavic languages are the working languages of the Conference.
- Conference fee (to cover organisation costs and preliminary preparation of submitted conference papers for publication): EUR 55 // PLN 250.00. Participants who do not present a paper do not pay the conference fee.
